TO-DAY.

Peffer Introduces a Substitute Tariff Bill—His Resolution To Investigate Senators Was Tabled—Finance Committee Will Not Grant a Hearing on the Tariff Bill.

WASHINGTON, March 12.—Justice White was sworn in as justice of the supreme court at noon today. In the senate Blanchard of Louisiana was sworn in to succeed Justice White. A substitute for the tariff bill was introduced by Senator Peffer. His resolution to investigate the alleged dealings of Senators in sugar was tabled on Senator Gorham's motion by vote of thirty-three to twenty-seven. The senate finance committee decided this morning not to give a hearing on the tariff. Ambassador Bayard will ask an explanation from the British government of the landing of the marines at Bluefields. A cablegram from the United States consul announces that the sailors have returned on board the Cleopatra, and the inference is that their landing will be credited to the purpose of preserving order and not to any intention of extending a British protectorate over the Mosquito coast. Nevertheless, it is desirable to have the subject brought officially to the attention of the British government, so that some explanation will go on record from it. The request will be made with the usual diplomatic courtesy, and there will be no suggestion that the United States thinks a protectorate was contemplated. Probably Ambassador Bayard, in calling the attention of the English foreign office to the circumstances, will define the attitude of the United States.

PROGRAM IN CONGRESS.

Attention of the Senate to Be Given Principally to Bland's Bill.

WASHINGTON, March 12.—In accordance with the agreement entered into Friday the senate will devote the major portion of this week to the consideration of the Bland seigniorage bill, which is to be finally disposed of by vote at 2 o'clock Thursday if Senator Allison's motion to reconsider should fail of adoption, as it most likely will. The agreement for the consideration of the seigniorage bill does not preclude the routine work of the senate, and it is probable that many of the bills on the calendar upon which no division of sentiment is probable will be taken up and passed. It is probable that there will be very little talk on the seigniorage bill and friends of the measure feel confident of its passage.

Appropriation bills will continue to have right of way in the house. The sundry civil bill, which will be the unfinished business when the house meets to-day, carries $32,305,382, $9,109,923 less than that of last year. It will probably require four days to dispose of this bill, the two items that will provoke the most opposition being the appropriations for the geological and the coast and geodetic survey. After the sundry civil bill is disposed of either the military or consular and diplomatic appropriations bill will consume the rest of the week.

The members of the elections committee are anxious to interrupt the consideration of the appropriation bills with the contested election cases. But the managers believe it will be difficult to secure a quorum, and it has been deemed best to push the appropriation bills as rapidly as possible.

Ordered Deported to Russia.

WASHINGTON, March 12.—Ch. Carl Fischer, a Russian subject, 35 years old, arrived in New York Feb. 20 last and was barred a landing by the board of special inquiry as a contract laborer. It was admitted that Fischer was an assisted immigrant, his brother-in-law, a pantaloan-maker in Philadelphia, having paid his passage money and given him work on arrival. In view of his being an assisted immigrant, in addition to there having evidently been an understanding that Fischer was to work for the brother-in-law, the commissioner of the immigration bureau holds that he comes within the prohibition of the statutes and therefore directs that he be deported to the country whence he came at the expense of the steamship company bringing him to the United States.

Robbers Mulet a Gambling House.

COLORADO CITY, Colo., March 12.—Four masked and armed men entered the Oxford club, a gambling house, at 3 a. m. yesterday and ordered everybody in the house to throw up their hands. All did so except Ed Donaldson, the negro porter, who dodged behind the ice box. A shot intended for him wounded another negro in the foot. The robbers did not get much booty, as the games had been stopped and the bank roll locked in the safe. They escaped.

Cyclone in Wisconsin.

SHEBOYGAN, Wis., March 12.—This place was struck by the tail end of some cyclone early yesterday morning. WANTS MINERS TO WAIT.

President McBride of the United Workers to Attend the Conference.

MASSILLON, Ohio, March 12.—President John McBride of the United Mine Workers is here and will attend the great Canal Fulton conference of Massillon miners to-day. He hopes the locked out men will act upon the suggestions contained in his peace circular and patch up the differences with the operators. He says his advice to the miners of the United States to settle the local strikes with a view to inaugurating a national strike when trade conditions are more favorable is being commended generally. The Hocking Valley miners have indorsed it unanimously. In Jackson county, however, the strike of 5,000 miners against a reduction continues and the Massillon miners also seem disinclined to yield.

LA SALLE, Ill., March 12.—The strike on the La Salle and Peru Electric railway closed yesterday, the men having agreed to a compromise by which they work two hours a day longer than heretofore and receive an advance in wages of $5 a month.

NEW BRUNSWICK, N. J., March 12.—The New Brunswick rubber factory and the Meyer Rubber company's plant at Milltown will close to-day for an indefinite period. The shut-downs will throw about 1,000 men out of employment and are the result of the general dullness in trade.

MAY GAIN $9,000,000.

Treasury Deficit for This Year Not Likely to Exceed $70,000,000.

WASHINGTON, March 12.—There are good reasons for the belief that the deficiency in the revenues of the government for the present fiscal year will fall considerably below Secretary Carlisle's estimates. In his statement before the house judiciary committee on Jan. 25 the secretary expressed the opinion that the deficit for the year would be $78,000,000 or $79,000,000, but the conditions have changed somewhat since then and it is now the opinion of experts that the deficiency at the close of the present fiscal year will be found not to exceed $70,000,000.

Bad Sandstorm in Kansas.

KANSAS CITY, Mo., March 12.—A special to the Journal from Pleasanton, Kan., says the worst sandstorm in years raged in that city yesterday from 9 o'clock in the morning till 5 in the afternoon, the velocity of the wind being nearly seventy miles an hour. Farmers report wheat in plowed ground blown out. Many fields are said to be ruined in places where the soil was light. The storm came from the northwest.

Starts Up Its Plant.

CHICAGO, March 12.—The continued improvement in the demand for steel and iron has led the Illinois Steel company to start up its great plant at South Chicago. Three blast furnaces are now in operation, and the steel plant will begin the latter part of this week or early next. Employment to 2,000 men will be given when work is resumed. The plant has been shut down most of the time since last summer's financial trouble.

To Transfer Iron Hall Funds.

ST. LOUIS, Mo., March 12.—At the request of Judge Klein a mass meeting of the members of the Iron Hall was held and it was decided to ask the judge to order the funds in the hands of the Missouri receiver, Breck Jones, which amount to $44,000, to be turned over to the Indianapolis receivers. The order will be made to-morrow, Judge Klein having left it to the meeting to decide what course to pursue.

"Yes, but that was an entirely different case."—Texas Siftings.

NOTHING NEW IN THE ROSTER CASE.

PARTNER BASHFORD'S STORY TOLD THIS MORNING.

Dropped the Libel Suit of the Times Against the State Journal for Fear That It Would Bring Out the Roster Scandal—Mr. Woodard's Deposition.

MADISON, March 12.—[Special]—As all the attorneys were not able to be in court this morning, the examination of George Dow, was not taken up but the reading of Senator Bashford's deposition was used instead. In it he details his side of the opinions regarding the roster contract and says that he dropped the libel suit against the State Journal for fear that it would bring out the roster scandal.

Banker Woodard's deposition was the one taken in Janesville and detailed how he arranged to loan Colonel Clark $8,000 with reference to his bank becoming a state depository; the deposit of $10,000 of state funds on his bank and the transfer of the $8,000 mentioned to Clark taking as security Colonel Clark's note, $3,000 Janesville Recorder stock and some stock in the Madison Times when it was issued. The deposition also brought out that the only money paid to Woodard by Clark was one year's interest of $560, which was paid late in April or early in May last year, which was soon after Clark secured the $20,000 on the roster contract. It further was sworn by Mr. Woodard that he didn't think he could have let Clark have the money if his bank had not been made a state depository. It was four months after he let Clark have the money before the Madison Times stock was issued which came to him as security for the loan.

TO BLOW UP A BUILDING.

Attempt Caused by the "Ironclad Age's" Hostility to Religion.

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind., March 12.—An attempt was made Saturday night to blow up the office of the Ironclad Age, an infidel paper published at 55 Indiana avenue. The office is located in a large building the upper floors of which are rented to families. The men entered the office through the cellar, and, after turning on the natural gas in two stoves, lighted a lamp. The pipes were removed from the stoves in order to prevent the gas from escaping through the flues, and the doors and windows were carefully closed and locked. The men even took the precaution to close a transom which had been left open two inches. They then left the building, closing and locking all the doors behind them. The expected explosion was prevented by the arrival of the editor of the paper, who discovered the condition of affairs and opened the doors and turned out the gas. The paper is bold in its denunciation of all forms of the Christian religion, and it is believed the attempt to blow it up was made because of the stand it has taken.

TWO WOMEN KILLED
BY A POISON DRINK.

THE MYSTERIOUS DEATH OF MOTHER AND DAUGHTER.

Mrs. Holmes, of Syracuse, Drank of the Cup That Killed Her Child, and Now Both Are Dead—An Autopsy Reveals the Whole Thing—An Investigation Ordered.

POMEROY, Ohio, March 12.—An autopsy was held on the remains of Mrs. Holmes at Syracuse yesterday, revealing the fact that her stomach had been destroyed by some powerful drug and that she had congestion of the lungs, either of which would have proven fatal. The official investigation will not be completed for several days, but it is now believed by the coroner that the death of mother and daughter can not be traced to any criminal source. He states that investigation shows that the daughter, Mrs. Joseph Mathews, took an overdose of the alleged liver medicine prepared and used by her father, under misapprehension that it would more speedily relieve her trouble, and that she died from the effect in two days. She took the medicine of her own volition. The mother, Mrs. Holmes, took a double dose of the same preparation of her own accord to allay gossip and to prove the drug harmless and to place the blame on Dr. Rowley. The body of the daughter is not yet exhumed.

ALL ENID READY TO FIGHT.

Row Over the Mayoralty Likely to Result in Bloody Strife.

ENID, Ok., March 12.—There is every prospect of a bloody fight here. Because of an attempt to expend city funds uselessly in South Enid Mayor Moore resigned and W. H. Gregg became acting mayor. The next day Moore made an attempt to withdraw his resignation, having been requested to do so by a large number of citizens, but the council refuse to allow him to do so, as it wanted to get rid of him. An injunction was issued by Judge Thompson against Gregg acting as mayor and another Judge dissolved the injunction on the ground that it was not brought in the right manner. When one man tried to get the clerk's books over a hundred guns and revolvers flashed into sight. The records are now guarded by a posse of armed men with instructions to resist any attempt to get them, even to killing the parties who may make the attempt, and it is feared bloodshed may come of it yet. Capt. Hassler, receiver of public money at the Enid land office, may be drawn into the squabble, as he is a candidate for mayor at the coming election. The fight in the campaign is bitter. Every citizen of the town is a walking arsenal. Moore has deputized 500 men to help keep the peace.

HEAVY CARGOES OF SUGAR.

During Week Ending March 7 Eastern Cities Received 56,802 Tons.

NEW YORK, March 12.—The large number of vessels arriving at this port from the West Indies within two weeks has, in connection with the violent fluctuations in the stock of the sugar trust, attracted considerable attention. It has never before been necessary to charter steamers from regular lines to carry the sugar crop but this season several of the Southern Pacific company's boats have been pressed into service and have been making regular trips to Cuban ports. For the week ended March 7 there were received at the three sugar ports of New York, Philadelphia and Boston 56,802 tons of 2,240 pounds each, which was an increase of 13,003 tons over the corresponding week of last year.

The week's imports were valued at $3,757,402 at the three ports of which New York's share was $1,970,298. In connection with the figures relative to the market for and stock of cane sugars it is interesting to note that there are at present 4,100 tons of beet sugar afloat from Hamburg for New York and 14,000 tons has been engaged.

TO COMPLETE PANAMA CANAL.

Shareholders Favor a Syndicate—Cost Estimated at $100,000,000.

PARIS, March 12.—At a meeting of the shareholders of the Panama Canal company it was resolved to favor the formation of a syndicate to undertake the Bartissol project to finish the Panama canal. M. Bartissol proposes to build a stone tunnel six miles long. Water from the Chagres River would according to the plan, be conducted by shafts to this tunnel and be used to carry to the shores of the Pacific the soil excavated from the bed of the canal. The civil engineer calculates that the Panama canal could by this means be completed in four years, and he estimates the maximum expense of the undertaking at $100,000,000.

Thirty-eight men were arrested and taken to a police station, where they were closely examined with the result that all but five were discharged from custody. It is reported that the police made a search of the premises and seized a quantity of anarchist literature.

MACHINE AT WORK AGAINST BENNETT.

STILL HUNT BY THE REGULAR DEMOCRACY.

County Organizations at Work in the Townships Here and in Green and Jefferson—How the Plan of Campaign Is Varied in Different Localities.

In Janesville this year the judicial campaign has been carried out on strictly "non-partisan" lines. Democratic backers of William Smith have urged that politics be left out of the question. Outside the city they appear to have changed their tactics. The regular democratic managers have been riding the country, working township canvassers. Every town has been visited and the "faithful" notified that Mr. Smith is a good democrat and entitled to support as such against any republican, however well qualified. It is regretted that such tactics should be used.

A partisan struggle for the office of circuit judge is not inspiring and has been avoided in nearly every circuit throughout the state. It might have been here had democrats not insisted on running Mr. Smith's canvass on the ward hustler style. "Hustling" is effective but it is not relished in connection with so important a matter as is before Rock, Green and Jefferson county people this spring. It wins oftener than it loses, and republicans are weak, undoubtedly on relying on the good sense of the voters too much and on active solicitation too little, but in this campaign the dignified course taken by Judge Bennett is the course that will win.

Rock county people realize what a loss it would be to the circuit to have Judge Bennett retired. He is better qualified to-day to serve the people than ever before. His ripe experience makes him tower head and shoulders above the majority of the bar of the state. No circuit judge has as clean a record as his before the supreme court, none so often selected by attorneys of other circuits for the trial of important cases brought on change of venue. The people recognize his sturdy integrity and absolute fidelity to their interests. The bar feel that they have in him an arbiter who knows the law thoroughly and who rules with an even hand. From one end of the circuit to the other there would be regret should he be dispensed with.

With public sentiment as it is the only chance of Judge Bennett's defeat would seem to be that many of his friends fail to vote, thinking the exertion unnecessary. This seems to be the peg on which democratic managers hang their hopes. An especially active canvass is being made by them in democratic precincts. A few days ago a tour of Jefferson was made by Mr. Smith accompanied by Max Pfennig of this city. The day after that Mr. Smith made the rounds in Watertown with the chairman of the Jefferson county democratic committee. In Rock county, as has been said before, the regular democratic machinery, has also been at work and the same is true of Green. Friends of Judge Bennett are awakening to what the democratic still hunt means and are taking steps to head it off.

Talk For Emerald Grove Folk.

EMERALD GROVE, March 12.—The annual meeting of the Emerald Grove cemetery association will be held on Monday evening March 19. A full attendance of members is expected. District school closes this week Friday. The attendance for the last four weeks has been small. Miss Jennie McArthur closed her school in the Youngclaus district in Harmony last Friday. In the evening an entertainment was given by the school to a house full of parents and visitors, a good many from here attending. The spring like weather during March has been remarkably mild so far and everything indicates an early spring. Many farmers are plowing sod. Thursday evening of this week the Beloit male quartette and reader will entertain the members of the Lecture Course. You should not fail to attend as the program will be a good one and well rendered. As these entertainments are for the benefit of the church society the house should be well filled. At the annual town meeting in Bradford this spring the question of whether the highway tax shall be worked in labor or paid in money will be voted on. Choice ham and bacon at Gillies & Jones. Tobacco raisers are casing their crop. No sales have been made that are known of.

FANNY RICE COMES THIS WEEK.

"Little Broom Seller" and "A Jolly Surprise," to Be Given.

The annual visit of Fanny Rice to Janesville, will, no doubt, be looked upon, now and hereafter, as an amusement event. No other actress has ever achieved such popularity in so short a time, and it is claimed that her performance improves with each succeeding year. An excellent entertainment may be expected by those who will spend their way to the Grand next Thursday night, when the Dainty Fanny and her clever coterie will present a double bill, comprising a delightfully melodious Offenbach opera, entitled "A Little Broom Seller," and an old friend in new dress known as Fanny Rice's "New Jolly Surprise."

During Miss Rice's trip abroad last summer she secured some very entertaining novelties, as well as several of the latest London vocal hits, all of which will be incorporated in the comedy this season.

Miss Rice's company is, as usual, far beyond the average generally found in support of so prominent a star. And each and every member is capable of furnishing his or her full quota of the fun making.

Feeling His Way.

"Excuse me, ma'am," said the tramp, "have you got any wood you want split?"

"No."

His face brightened.

"Any coal you need carried?"

"None whatever."

A smile stole over his features as he went on.

"Is there any work of any kind ye could call on me for?"

"No."

With intense relief he said: "Thank yer, missus, for them assurances, even if yer charity don't go further. Yours is the first house that's let me git 'round to the question to-day. Have yer got any cold victuals?"

Occasion for Apologies.

James Paya tells of an English gentleman who objected to Christmas "waits." On one occasion, on being called upon the next day by the persons who had awakened him with carols on the previous night, he inquired their business. "Well, sir," was the modest rejoinder, "we are the waits." "I am not surprised," was the unexpected reply. "We are come," they continued, "for the usual gratuity." "I did hope," he said, with quiet dignity and a pity for human nature in his tone, "that you had come to apologize."

Bigger for Comfort.

An Aroostook, Maine, farmer travels in great comfort through the long reaches of snow and in the face of the bitterest north winds in a one-horse sleigh, hooded over like a prairie schooner and with a stove inside, the funnel sticking through the top. It is a rig of his own invention, and while not architecturally beautiful in appearance, it is mighty comfortable in use.

NEW HIGH SCHOOL IS MUCH NEEDED.

JANESVILLE PEOPLE ENDORSE
THE BOARD OF EDUCATION.

Resolution of That Nature and Calling For Immediate Action, Passed at the Mass Meeting Without a Dissenting Voice—All Sections Were Fairly Represented.

Taking the result of the mass meeting of citizens held at the rooms of Business Men's Association as the opinion of the voters of Janesville, there will be little if any opposition to the proposition to build a new high school building. That meeting was a fair representation of all sections, and opinion was a unit in favor of the proposition. Captain Pliny Norcross, after making a brief and pointed speech in favor of a new building, presented the following resolution, which was adopted without a dissent:

"Resolved, That it is the sense of this meeting that it is the duty of this city to build a new high school building as soon as possible and that the proceedings of our school board in recommending such a building be erected, is hereby endorsed."

The necessity for adopting these measures were fully set forth by the statements of the members of the school board and the superintendent of schools, which have heretofore been published in The Gazette and their statements had been verified by personal inspection.

COL. CLARK COULDN'T ACT ALONE.

State Officers Had to Help Him With the Roster Deal.

Colonel Clarence L. Clark could not have made any bank a depository for the state funds, nor awarded any roster contract, nor sold it before as well as after it was awarded, without the aid and co-operation of the state officials as well as their knowledge and consent. These men may plead ignorance in extenuation of their acts, but such a plea requires an ignorance so dense that any after pretense that they have fitness for the offices they hold would be raw impudence.—Madison Journal.

The Telephone.

My love was eighty miles away.
To her I had much to say;
And I telephoned to her one day
I could hear her voice so plain.

The more I talked, the more I tried To think of something else beside
'Twas such a treat to be denied,
I could talk the whole day long.

Time passed on, my land was tired
Holding on to the phone, but I admired
The girl so much and the words she wired,
That I could not hang it up.

The telephone man asked if I was through,
He was getting weary, mad and blue,
But we had not said our half we knew,
But I wouldn't hang it up.

We talked away, but didn't say much,
It seemed to me her lips I could touch,
The words she said to me were such,
That I couldn't hang it up.

Once more I said, don't forget to write,
I won't say she so sweet and bright;
The telephone man said a sharp good night,
And he shut us off.

CATARRH OF THE STOMACH.

In Many Cases Catarrh Unchecked Extends Into the Stomach.

"Usually with catarrh of the head and throat," says Dr. McChesney, "there is more or less discharge which accumulates in the throat by dropping there, and which is hawked up and expelled in the day time. This mucus dro into the throat from the back part of the nose. At night this nauseating material still continues to drop into the throat. It first collects in the pharynx then is brought into contact with the foul and impure air from the lungs and is mixed with the germs of decay. Decomposition results, and in this condition the vile material is swallowed, while asleep, and goes into the stomach. The decomposing discharges of catarrh so swallowed are poisons—not deadly ones, but poisons nevertheless, which act slowly but surely, undermining the patient's constitution. The following told by a sufferer describes an attack of catarrh of the stomach:

"Now when I get up in the morning my throat is filled with nasty slime, which dropped there in the night, this gives me a bad taste in my mouth. I have to hawk a great deal to rid my throat of this offensive stuff and this makes me gag and sometimes even vomit, the result of this is I have a disgust for food and I can eat but little if any breakfast. This is not the worst however as during the night I swallow a lot of this nasty stuff which collects in my throat, which the doctor says coats over the food I eat, keeps it from digesting and that the food rots in my stomach and forms a lot of gas, which beats me up and I belch up a quantity of bad tasting wind. I believe a lot of this poisonous stuff is absorbed into my system as I feel sick at the stomach. Sometimes I have cramps. I am constipated, have a coated tongue, feel dizzy and have a rush of blood to the head. I bloat up at times so I can hardly breathe and feel as though I would smother. I have pain in the lower part of my back and across the kidneys. My hands and feet are cold and when not cold they sweat and feel clammy. I feel that I am growing weaker and nervous all the time. I also have frequent attacks of palpitation or rapid beating and fluttering at my heart."

Dr. McChesney cures catarrh of the stomach.

HE SAW A CYCLONE.

But the Experience Had Not Improved Him as a Story-Teller.

When it was understood that the old man with his head bandaged up and his face criss-crossed with strips of court-plaster had been a victim of the cyclone, we gathered around to hear his story.

"The first thing I heard," he began as he looked around, "was a terrible moaning and groaning."

"That was the coming of the cyclone," said one of the passengers.

"Wall, no. I afterward found out that it was my old woman. She'd felt off'n a chair and hurt her back. The next thing that I took notice of was a rushin' sound, as if a thousand trains of cars was humpin' along."

"That was the forerunner," said a second passenger.

"No, it wasn't. I thought it was, but I was mistaken. It was only some niggers fallin' off the roof of a shed. Then I heard such a shriek as I hope never to hear again if I live to be 1,000 years old. It jist made my flesh crawl."

"That was the exultant voice of the demon of the storm," said a young woman with eye glasses and a poetical look.

"No, ma'am, it wasn't," replied the old man. "I thought it was, but it turned out to be my darter Sal. She was sloshin' around barefoot and trod on a fish bone. I was tellin' her that I was glad on it when that cyclone struck the house with a roar like that of a million wounded lions."

"And it was picked up like an autumn leaf?" said the Chicago Times man, getting out his note-book.

"No, sir. No, the house is right there same as ever."

"But it was unroofed?"

"No, the roof is all right. When that cyclone tackled my house she bit off more'n she could chew and had to let go. She jist dodged to the left with a roar like a billion tigers all roarin' at once and struck into my orchard."

"And devastated everything in its path, of course," remarked a tall young man with a Roman nose and two watch chains.

"Wall, no. She devastated one peach tree which I was goin' to cut down that same day, but the rest of 'em refused to be devastated. Then, with a scream like thousands of schoolma'ams screamin' in chorus, she—"

"See here, old man," interrupted the conductor, "did that cyclone sweep away any of your property?"

"Not a doggone sweep!"

"And how did you get hurt?"

"My blamed old mawl ran away with me next day and pitched me into the bushes."

"Then what are you talking about?"

"'Bout the cyclone of course. These 'ere folks never seen one, and though I hain't much of a hand to talk I'm willin' to tell 'em all I kin 'bout the screams of fury—mad shrieks of despair—appallin' devastation—wreck and desolashun and two of my niggers losin' their hats and one of my corneribs bein' unroofed. Arter breakin' down that peach tree she got up and howled like millions of wolves a-howlin' in chorus, and then—"

But that was the end. The crowd melted away like soft snow, and left the old man alone, and after borrowing a chew of tobacco of the man on the seat in front he leaned over against the window and fell into a peaceful sleep.

NOT HARD TO MAKE ARTISTIC FRAMES.THE DECORATION IS PRODUCED WITH
THE POPULAR POKER WORK.Hard Wood Having an Attractive Grain Supplies the Frame—The Design Is First Sketched In and Then Burned With a Redhot Iron.Exceedingly artistic effects can be frequently be produced from simple materials and with simple tools. A mirror frame, originally illustrated and described by Country Gentleman, is an instance at hand. The frame was made of oak, ash or some other hard wood having an attractive grain, the surface being darkened and given a rich look by rubbing oil and lampblack into the wood. The frame is made of flat boards one inch thick and six or more inches wide, according to the size of the glass. It is put together with square joints.The decoration decided upon is first sketched in with a soft pencil or crayon, after which this outline is burned into the wood with a redhot pointed iron, moving the iron rapidly along where the lines are to be light and less rapidly where a deeper and more decided line is to be cut. Those who have never seen the beautiful soft effect which these burned lines produce in such wood as oak or ash may well be expected to become enthusiastic over this somewhat new method of decorating hard wood finished in its natural state.A picture frame treated in a similar way had a heading and foot of bronze, which add to the richness of effect.

With such a frame and such decoration, the name of the picture and the artist's name may very appropriately be thus etched upon the bottom piece. For instance, if the frame that is illustrated contained a photograph, framed without margin, of Breton's magnificent picture,

"The Song of the Lark," the name of the picture and that of the painter could be etched below with a hot iron, as indicated.This kind of decoration has received the attention of some of our best American artists and is well worth a trial not alone upon picture frames, but upon other woodwork where the natural finish of the wood is preserved.

Buttermilk Doughnuts.

Three eggs well beaten, 2 cups of sugar, 1 1/2 cups of buttermilk, half a nutmeg grated, 1 1/2 teaspoonfuls of soda sifted in the flour, a teaspoonful of salt.
Knead tolerably hard.Cream doughnuts are made as follows:
One cup of thick, sour cream, 2 eggs well beaten, a cup of sugar, beat all together; a level teaspoonful of soda pulverized and sifted in the flour, half a teaspoonful of salt and flavoring to suit, flour enough to roll out.

The Pianist Who Sings.

Let it never be forgotten that singing is the foundation of all musical education. The pianist who sings is more likely to be an expressive player. It will be easier for him to transpose; it will be easier for him to read; it will be easier for him to comprehend the mysteries of harmony, and unless he is a singer, at least in his imagination, counterpoint will forever be an insoluble mystery.What interest is there in a fugue for one who does not in his imagination hear the voices singing in parts? But it is inspiring and sublime when one is playing a fugue, Bach or Handel, to imagine hundreds of voices singing the parts. For the want of this power Schumann is not appreciated. His piano music is all vocal. A certain musician who often plays Schumann remarks that he at times is almost unable to use his voice after playing Schumann for half an hour. In his imagination he is singing as many of the parts as possible, and while he is not uttering a sound the muscles of his throat are so engaged that he actually becomes hoarse.

Dressy Velvet Collars.

The collar has much to do with the effect of a gown. Take a black silk waist, for instance, and buy one of the ready-made stock collars of bright velvet to wear with it and see how much it improves your appearance. These collars come in all colors. The only word of warning is to choose with care a shade of velvet which will blend well with your complexion.

Getting Rid of Bugs.

There are several ways of getting rid of these pests. Quicklime dropped into the entrance to their particular haunts is very effective. All the approaches should be well scrubbed with boiling water and strong carbolic. Again, a mixture of camphor, spirits of wine and boiling water is often considered sufficient. It is also a good thing to moisten a sponge with equal parts of creosote and camphor, but the smell of this compound is not only generally objectionable, but to some people quite intolerable.The only odorless remedy is to stop up all cracks near the infested parts with putty and plaster of paris. Even then it is a necessary precaution to put a lump of raw meat near the place the ants most frequent. If the cracks have not been thoroughly closed, insects will be found adhering to the meat and can be destroyed by having boiling water poured over them. A more efficient application of putty and plaster should then be made.
The same piece of meat with the edges cut off can be used again, and the operation repeated until the absence of insects proves the effectual stopping up of their cracks.

Young Girl's House Dress.

A very pretty little house dress for a young girl is of navy blue serge cut en surplice over a gathered front and collar of dark red crape, the upper part of the sleeves being of the serge in three puffs, one falling over the others, and the tight lower part of the red. A pretty feature of the dress is the plain skirt, which is gathered around the waist with a drawstring, leaving a small heading at the top, the folds, of course, being distributed so as to hang gracefully.

Life or Death?

It is of vital importance that it should be understood by persons whose kidneys are inactive that this condition of things is finally indicative of a state of danger where life hangs in the balance. Bright's disease, diabetes, albumin-uria are all diseases of a very obstinate character in their mature stage, and all have a fatal tendency. They often baffie the most practised medical skill, and the most approved remedies of materia medica. But opposed at the outset—that is to say, when the kidneys begin to discharge their function ineffectively, with Hood's Sarsaparilla, the dangerous tendency is checked. Very useful, also, is this household medicine for those ailments of common occurrence, constipation, biliousness, dyspepsia and nervousness. It is a safeguard against malaria and averts chronic rheumatism.

The Useful Cranberry.

All fruits have a medicinal value, and the cranberry ranks as an antiscorbutic.
It is a blood cleanser. Bruised and heated, not cooked, they have a healing effect on bad humors. One cut in half and bound on a corn will cure it in one or more applications. It will be equally efficacious in the case of pimples on the face, says Good Housekeeping.As an article of food the cranberry is too little known. Many families know it only in the form of sauce, but it may be served in many other ways.A cooling, refreshing drink may be made by boiling the berries in water, double the measure of berries. Boil until the juice has been thoroughly extracted, sweeten with one-half pound of sugar to the pint of juice and bottle hot.
This should be served in the same manner as raspberry and currant shrubs.

Catarrh in The Head.

Is undoubtedly a disease of the blood and as such only a reliable blood purifier can effect a perfect and permanent cure. Hood's Sarsaparilla is the best blood purifier, and it has cured many very severe cases of catarrh.
Catarrh often leads to consumption.
Take Hood's Sarsaparilla before it is too late.Scrofula, whether hereditary or acquired, is thoroughly expelled from the blood by Hood's Sarsaparilla, the great blood purifier.

A Whimsical Chap.

Once tried to quote Bulwer ("was it Bulwer") and said, "Great aches from little toe corns grow," and altho' he didn't exactly quote he got there, got there as it were, with both feet, at least with a part of both."To be or not to be," said Shakespeare, (or Bacon?) and he to, may not be far off. Foot it over hill and dale, 'til you are weary and footsore, and you cannot find such bargains as we offer in building sites.
Homesites, for on these and the prices of the same and terms, too, we always did "ace the mark." For some reason we are this spring getting onto the goods, the prices and the terms with both feet. And so with Hamlet we soliloquize: "The wonder grows", why people are not "up in arms" when the prices we quote are looked into. You can get a home, if you wish, so long as we are in the business; hard times don't count. If you are not earning so much money as you did last year, we will meet you; it don't matter.Homesites and Homes are our fad; to help people get 'em is what we are on earth for, this time.The main secret, we suppose, why we always get the major part of the real estate trade going, is that we own a large part of the property that we offer. Another part of the secret is, we deal every time so that our customer sends to us his or her friend when they want to deal.Our beginnings here were not large, but so true it is that "Great oaks from little acorns grow," that the "birds of the air" have their homes,—build their nests,—in the result of our grain of mustard seed.
Come over and roost with us. Yours very truly,

GEO. L. & SARAH H. CARRINGTON.

She tried to brazen it out, but I was too much for her, and finally she owned up that she had taken the pin. "Did you have her arrested?" asked the other girl.

"No," said the first girl, "but I made her give me the pin." Then she turned her queenly head, pointed to something glittering in her hair and asked proudly: "Ain't it a bute?"

Contagion in the Razor.

The report of a case of tuberculosis of the bearded face will direct attention to the danger of transmission of tuberculosis through the intermediation of the instruments used by the barber. To prevent such an occurrence, each individual should have a separate brush and cup and napkin and razor. If one razor is used in common it should not again be used before having been placed for a short time in boiling water and dried, while persons who present themselves to the barber with diseases of the bearded skin should be advised to consult medical men.

A Profound Philologist.

A little Brooklyn girl astonished her mother the other day by her proficiency in philological pursuits. "Mamma," said she, "there are three kinds of 'y's,' aren't there?" "What do you mean, my dear?" responded the mother in surprise. "Well," sweetly lisped the little one, "there's one 'y' when you go by some one on the sidewalk, and there's another when you go to the store to buy something, and there's 'y' gosh!" The mother was not long in reaching the conclusion that her daughter needed a little careful instruction in the minor morals.

SOME WELL KNOWN FACES.

Author of "The Heavenly Twins." The name Sarah Grand, author of "The Heavenly Twins," is a nom de plume. The lady's real name is not yet known, but will soon be, as she has allowed her portrait to be published.

MRS. SARAH GRAND.

The now noted novel was only accepted by a publisher after it had worn out a large amount of literary shoe leather in its three years' travels from one book concern to another. The book is now a sensation in Great Britain and America. Mrs. Grand lives in London with her son and two daughters.

A COBRA'S NEST OF EGGS.

Interesting Discovery of a Batch of Eggs in British India.

Rather more than a year ago the fact was mentioned in a Bombay paper that a gentleman connected with the Goa railway had shot a hamadryad (Ophiophagus elaps) on its nest. The awkward mouthful of a word is coming to be familiarly known as the name of the giant cobra, more common in Burma than in India, which grows to a length of fourteen feet, is as fierce as it is strong, and has the reputation of feeding principally upon other snakes. Little, indeed, is known about the incubation—we might almost have said the alleged incubation—of snakes, and rarely, if ever, has a competent observer had the good chance to come upon a serpent in the very act of sitting, henlike, on its eggs. Only the bare fact was published at the time, and a fuller account cannot fail to be interesting.

The gentleman was Mr. Wasey, known in his district as an ardent and successful shikari; and he was told by a coolie, in the matter of course sort of way usual with these fatalist philosophers, that a certain path was impassable, as a cobra had erected a pad, or throne, for itself there, and warned off intruders. Here was a golden opportunity to settle the vexed question of the aggressiveness of venomous snakes. Will a cobra rush to the attack if it can get easily away? Europeans commonly say "no," but natives universally cite instances to the contrary, some of them plainly fabulous, but others only waiting corroboration to be believed. Now here in British India, or at least in Portuguese India, was a giant of the tribe, known to all the villagers to have taken up its station by the roadside and to be ready to glide down and rush like lightning at man or beast, who approached. Mr. Wasey followed the coolie to the spot and was shown the monster coiled up on top of a huge pile of dry leaves.

Without more ado he shot it, and turning over the leaves found at the bottom thirty-two eggs rather smaller than a hen's and covered each with a tough skin in place of a shell. These were sent to the secretary of the Bombay natural history society; but wanting the heat generated by the close mass of decaying leaves, they did not hatch. Sometimes more than one young one escapes from a snake's egg; but at the lowest computation Mr. Wasey is to be congratulated on ridding his district of thirty-three deadly snakes.

Storm at Galena, Ill.

GALENA, Ill., March 12.—A violent wind storm raged here last night. Considerable damage has been reported. Telegraph wires were prostrated and telephone service impaired, communication with outside towns being completely cut off.

LONDON SNOW.

How the Streets Are Cleared of the Traffic-impeding Downfall.

After a heavy snow-storm during the night the London man comes to his place of business and finds that in the principal thoroughfares nearly all traces of the snow have disappeared. The preparations for the coming winter are begun early in the autumn. For the extra labor required reliance has to be placed on the "unemployed." Work is found each winter for some 2,000 or 3,000 men out of employment.

Snow first made its appearance last winter in London late on Tuesday night and it continued to fall until 6 o'clock on Wednesday morning. Some 200 extra men were taken on and by 10 or 11 o'clock the city streets were cleared, the snow being carted away, and, for the most part, shot over the bridges into the Thames. There was a heavier fall on Wednesday night, beginning about 6 o'clock and continuing with more or less severity throughout the night. Men were at work all night salting and clearing the streets for traffic, while early on Thursday morning some 300 "unemployed" men were engaged to help in the work of clearance. On Thursday night and on Friday between 500 and 600 more men were engaged. The extra men are paid at the rate of 6d an hour, and although several consecutive hours' work could often be found for large numbers of them, it is found that in many instances they desire to "knock off" after an hour or two's labor. This they are allowed to do, and they are paid according to the time which they have worked.

THE VINEGAR HABIT.

How a Woman Slowly Poisoned Herself to Death.

"I once had a patient," said Lawrence Newcomb of Rochester, N. Y., who formerly practiced as a physician, but who is now an angel of commerce, "who poisoned herself with vinegar. I was never a burning or shining light in the medical profession, and hence it is not surprising that the case baffled my investigation for a year, though I have the consolation of knowing that four eminent physicians who were called in for consultation attributed the lady's evident breaking-up to four different causes, none of them remotely connected with the real one. The chief symptom was lassitude and deathly whiteness, and the lady, who had no other companion but an ignorant, though faithful, colored attendant, finally died before reaching her thirtieth year. Subsequent investigation proved that she was a vinegar fiend, and that, while refusing food of all description, she was drinking large quantities of vinegar. As the habit grew upon her, she secured stronger grades, until finally she was drinking acetic acid but very slightly diluted. There are cases on record of persons who have been poisoned by overdoses of vinegar, taken to improve the complexion, but this is the only case I ever heard of any one acquiring the vinegar habit and pursuing it steadily until it caused death.

Legal Coming of Age.

A man is legally of age the day before he completes his 21st year, and even if he were born on the last moment of the first day of January and executed a deed on the first moment of the last day of December, the day before his 21st birthday, it would be legal. The reason is that the law does not recognize parts of a day, and on the last day of his 21st year the legal age is supposed to be attained, though in fact he may not really be 21 until forty-eight hours later.

Japs Going in for Watchmaking.

The enterprising Japs, ever on the lookout for the chance of turning a few honest pennies, have just gone in for watchmaking. A large company, with headquarters at Yokohama, has been started, and as labor in Japan is cheap, and the Japanese possess in a remarkable degree the mechanical skill which is so essential in the business, its prospects ought to be good.

Reduce Tariff on American Products.

ST. JOHNS, N. F., March 12.—In opening the legislature yesterday the governor promised a tariff-revision measure. The executive has been engaged preparing schedules which would make liberal reductions on American flour, pork and other products.

Surrenders Himself for Murder.

LINCOLN, Neb., March 12.—A. S. Jones, the Missouri Pacific station agent who shot and killed J. F. Peck, the section boss at Sprague, in Lancaster county, gave himself up to the police yesterday. Jones says he was tired of hiding, and, having succeeded in arranging with his father, is now ready to stand trial.

Incomplete.

Mrs. Ver Million (dressed for a ball)—How do I look, dear?

Mr. Ver Million—Beautiful! beautiful! But you want a little blue paint on your nose and chin.

Mrs. Ver Million—You horrid thing! What would I have that for?

Mr. Ver Million—Complete the national colors.—Judge.

Matrimonial Item.

"Why, Clara, you look radiant! What has happened?"

"I've just received an invitation to a wedding."

"Well, there's nothing particular in that to go into raptures over."

"Yes. But it happens to be my own." And she showed the new engagement ring.—Alex Sweet, in Texas Siftings.

CIPHER CODES WELL GUARDED.

Nevertheless an Occasional Leak Develops in Diplomatic Correspondence.

These visited New York recently an emissary from the state department whose mission was the investigation of what is diplomatically termed a leak. The dispatches received by the government are, as is well known, sent in cipher. This cipher is guarded with a secrecy meant to be awful, but it was suspected that some unauthorized person had obtained a clew to it. This suspicion was sufficient to start a rigid investigation, and the trail led to New York. All facts bearing on these matters are carefully hidden, and the upshot of the New York visitor's trip was that there did exist a suspicion, but no certainty. When he got back to Washington there was a change in one of the codes. So quietly was the business managed that not a soul in the state department, with three exceptions, knew what was afoot. This incident illustrates how wary the department is with the codes. One of them is styled the "sphinx"—it is so guarded. The slightest reason to believe that a code clerk may be responsible for a leak results in his suspension. However, our government has been far more successful than some foreign ones in protecting its ciphers. The "sphinx" was devised by a New Yorker now in the state department, and is as susceptible to changes as the combination lock of a safe. Hundreds of messages have been sent in it, and it has never leaked. Those entrusted with the mysteries of it must be absolutely above suspicion; yet even should there be a leak, the alteration of a key letter would destroy every clew to an outsider.

Mendicant, to actor—Would you oblige a brother professional with a trifle to get some food? I used to be in the business myself—contortionist. Actor, giving quarter—Well, here you are, ex-tortionist.

Life Was a Burden

Because of the intense pains in my stomach and side, and also on account of gall stones. After eating I would be in great distress. I became so reduced in flesh that my friends thought I would not live long. I grew worse and my removal to a hospital in Syracuse was under advisement, when my father had me give Hood's Sarsaparilla a trial. There was an improvement at once and I have continued taking it, until I am now well. I have gained in flesh and can eat heartily without distress. I now enjoy life and I owe it all to Hood's Sarsaparilla." Mrs. MARY SHUTE, Cazenovia, N. Y.

CASH CAME FAST FOR THE Y. M. C. A.

$675 RAISED IN TWENTY MINUTES LAST NIGHT.

While John M. Whitehead Was Speaking, A. M. Valentine Started the Subscription with $100—Meeting a Most Enthusiastic One—Dr. Eaton Speaks on Lent—Religious Notes.

A wave of enthusiasm swept through the Congregational church last evening and left a trail of money for the good of the Y. M. C. A. cause behind it.

John M. Whitehead, the past president of the association, made a speech that caused it and the anniversary meeting will go down in the history of the Janesville association as its banner session.

Six hundred and seventy-five dollars was raised in twenty minutes not to speak of a collection of $40.65 that was taken up in addition.

Ex-president Whitehead was speaking from the rostrum and made an eloquent plea. The audience was listening intently.

You could hear a pin drop in any part of the church.

A rustling sound came from the gallery and people looked around. A. M. Valentine was standing up.

"Mr. Whitehead," he said, "your talk has touched my heart; I'll be one of the twenty men to give one hundred dollars each." Later he said, "I will cut the string; I'll give one hundred dollars anyway; yes I'll give more."

Mr. Valentine was then called to the rostrum and made a few remarks. As he spoke Rev. E. H. Pence of the Presbyterian church raised another hundred dollars and then the money came thick and fast.

An address was made by State Secretary F. E. Anderson, whose effort was a very taking one; B. F. Dunwiddie, the first president of the association gave up his time to Mr. Anderson whose talk was upon the subject of "Benefits of the Association Building."

Reports were received from H. J. Cunningham, secretary of the board of directors; Chairman Loomis of the building committee; Treasurer O. G. Bennett; General Secretary J. C. Kline and from Mrs. M. L. Beers, president of the Ladies Auxiliary.

John I. Lugg spoke on "The Needs of the Association in This City" and awakened great enthusiasm. The meeting put new life into the already exceedingly healthy move toward accomplishing the good end aimed at.

One of the most enjoyable features of the meeting was the vocal numbers by the Y. M. C. A. chorus consisting of C. F. Yates, William Garbutt, F. A. Spoon, E. E. Van Pool, Dr. W. F. Hoyt, Prof. Buell, Dr. O. G. Bennett, William Bladon and A. Crawford.

SERVICES IN LOCAL CHURCHES

Large Audiences Listened To All the Local Divines Yesterday.

At the First M. E. church, Rev. J. D. Cole delivered a sermon to young men Sunday morning. His text was from First King's second chapter, second verse, and some fine points were presented. Monday evening will be the official meeting of the First M. E. church. A full attendance is desired. Mr. Kline, the Y. M. C. A. secretary, addressed the Epworth League at their regular meeting last evening on the subject of "Good Citizenship." He left many thoughts that would call for serious meditation. The Ladies' Foreign Missionary society will meet on Wednesday afternoon. This is their silver anniversary and a full attendance is desired. Supper will be served from 5 to 7 o'clock. The Epworth League prayer meeting will be held on Tuesday evening of this week at the residence of F. A. Barfoot on Vista avenue.

At Court Street church a large audience listened to a discourse by Rev. W. F. Requa on "The Religion of Law and the Religion of Grace." The attendance at the Sunday school was unusually large. An orchestra of five pieces, lately formed, adds to the musical interest of this and the Epworth League services.

An interesting program on the subject "Systematic Benevolence" had been prepared and was carried out in full at the C. E. S. of the Presbyterian church Sunday evening. A stranger was heard to remark while leaving the church, "That is the best, most inspiring Christian Endeavor meeting I ever attended."

Dr. Hodge preached a strong sermon to young men Sunday morning, from the text: "Who Knoweth Whither Thou art Come to the Kingdom for Such a Time as This?" The Young People's Society of Christian Endeavor meeting was full of interest. Subject: "Good Citizenship."

The morning service at the Congregational church was unusually interesting. The pastor, Mr. Wilder, preached on the subject: "What Does the Church Owe to the Young Men?" Expressions had been received, personally from young men christians and non-christians during the week, by the pastor, and therefore he was able to combine the judgment of many which brought the practical thought that the church owes its existence to a young man. The Young People's Society of Christian Endeavor was full of enthusiasm. On the subject of Good Citizenship T. E. Anderson, state secretary of the Young Men's Christian Association, gave a short address as did also J. M. Whitehead and others.

The men's meeting at the Y. M. C. A. rooms was the largest held since entering their present quarters. One hundred and seventy-six were present, and it was one of the best meetings in interest and results. The Y. M. C. A. singing class will meet to-night at the Y. M. C. A. rooms. The bible class will meet Wednesday night, at 7:30. All young men invited.

DR. E. L. EATON TALKS OF LENT "Forty Days of Lent and 325 of Worldliness" a Travesty.

Dr. E. L. Eaton, the former pastor of the Court Street Methodist church but now of Milwaukee, took the question "Why Do We Not Keep Lent?" as the subject of his sermon in the Washington Avenue Methodist church yesterday morning. He answered the question by saying that Christ and the Apostles did not enjoy fasting and the practice of the early Christian church did not warrant it. He said, "Christ left no command to fast, but committed this matter to every man's conscience. It is the law of Christian liberty. In the Sermon on the Mount Jesus had this to say about fasting: 'More-over when ye fast, be not as the hypocrites, of a sad countenance, for they disfigure their faces that they may appear unto men to fast. Verily I say unto you They have their reward. But thou, when thou fastest, anoint thine head, and wash thy face, that thou appear not unto men to fast, but unto thy Father, which is in secret, and thy Father which seeth in secret, shall reward thee openly.'"

"All days and all time are lent," he said in closing. Three hundred and twenty-five days of worldliness and forty days of lent are a travesty."

THE P. OF I. DYING IN ROCK COUNTY.

THE INTEREST IN THE ORDER IS ON THE WANE.

Drawing Fat Salaries Was the Chief Occupation of the Supreme Council, the Members Say, and Dissatisfaction and Distrust Are Surely Doing Their Work.

Are the Rock County Patrons of Industry on the rocks of dissolution? It looks that way.

The proposed withdrawal of Afton Association from the organization, one of the strongest and most energetic subordinate associations in the county, adds color to the statement. Three years ago the order was in a flourishing condition. Southern Wisconsin was being thoroughly and systematically organized. Rock county had twenty-four subordinate associations as follows: Afton, Avon, Barr, Beloit, Bradford, C. nter, Clinton, County Line, Emerald Grove, Farmers' Union, Goldsmith, Jug Prairie, Luther Valley, Magnolia, Newark Center, Plymouth, Seminary Grove, South Clinton, South Turtle, Spring Brook, Spring Valley, Summerville, Turtle Creek and Turtle Town Hall. One of the largest picnics ever held in the county was given under the auspices of the Rock County Association in 1890, at which Governor Hoard and Food Commissioner Thom were the principal speakers.

Much Dissatisfaction Is felt.

In Michigan alone 80,000 members marched under the patron banner. The supreme councils of the order were above reproach. To-day, through distrust and dissatisfaction with the present supreme organization, the order is going through the process of disintegration. And still there are hundreds of patrons the country, loyal to the fundamental principles of the organization; who believe that "in union there is strength," and that the interests of the farmer and laborer are best conserved by a banding together for mutual protection and benefit. And because of this, they are reluctant to disband, but wholly disapproving of the way in which the supreme organization has managed affairs, and not caring to help any longer in paying the fat salaries, the drawing of which seems to have been the chief business with the supreme officials. Just how the organization stands it is unable to determine. During the period of its existence in Rock county, much was done for its members from a social point of view, this being one of the leading features of the order. That an organization, non-political and non-sectarian, whose chief aim was the uplifting and benefit of the laboring man, should thus go down, is the cause of much regret among the champions of the cause but with all the end is apparently not far distant.

SAYS THE EDITOR RUNS A HELL-HOLE

Jack Warburton Jumps On The Evansville Tribune With Both Feet.

Jack Warburton, the temperance lecturer is at Evansville. The other night he took offense at something the Tribune published. Editor Morgan says: "We are informed that he made the assertion that we are running a club room and billiard hall, therefore a hell-hole in connection with this paper, and consequently the people of Evansville should at once suppress it and us. All we have to say is this, if all of his statements given in his lectures are as reliable as this one is then Jack is a regular Eli Perkins."

SINGED A DRUNKEN MAN'S FACE.

The Playful Pleasantries of a Clinton Saloon Man Cost Money.

Clinton is still wrought up over the foot hold that the rum demon appears to have gained in that city. A man fell asleep in his chair in one of the saloons and a piece of paper was placed in his mouth and set on fire. This not proving fun enough, he was informed that a half a newspaper was folded, one end placed under his cap, the paper hanging over his face. This was fired, burning his mustache, face and hair. The affair was settled by the proprietor paying $35.

Early Sunday morning Fred Donner and his wife were seen driving over Milwaukee street bridge headed for their home in Johnston, apparently as happy as a pair of doves.

POINTERS ABOUT
NEW DRESS WAISTS.THE CONVENIENT MODE OF BODICES
UNLIKE THE DRESS SKIRTS.

Popular Ones Are of Silk and of Velvet.
The Handkerchief and Butterfly Bodices.
Revived Vogue of Dressy Fichus In Chiffon, Net, Etc.

One of the styles followed by fashionable women is especially suited to the economical. It is that of wearing waists of different color and material from that used in the skirt. The waists wear out so much faster than the skirts, and new ones may usually be made from material on hand.

Numbered with popular waists are silk ones of any color desired. Silks in charming colors can be bought for about 75 cents a yard. Five yards are required for making ample sleeves and a large jabot. Sometimes two fabrics enter into these waists, the second being satin, usually black or else of a color to match the wool skirt with which it is to be worn. This satin makes the close lower part of the sleeves, the folded belt with a lengthwise bow on the left and a wide stock collar. There may be a fitted lining with whalebones in the waist and the silk arranged to droop in front in blouse fashion, while the back is smooth or else plain on the shoulders, with four plaits below.

Another plan is to omit a lining and insert a side form under each arm, adding two whalebones on each side to keep the waist well pushed down and in good shape. Such a waist serves at all seasons of the year. Redfern uses striped silks for such waists, making the stripes pass around the wearer in bayadere fashion, the prettiest having light green or cerise satin stripes on pale green or cream white grounds. There seems no doubt but that silk waists will form a part of spring and summer costumes.

Velvet waists are also much worn with different skirts. What was formerly called the kerchief waist is again in favor, with a fichu brought over the shoulders and tied in front, or else with scarfs inserted in the armholes and knotted across the bust. Soft crinkled crapes are used for other waists, and their effective trimmings are cross rows of guipure insertions.

For ball and party dresses a very pretty novelty is what is known as the butterfly waist. This is draped low, and a butterfly cut out of velvet of any desired color is placed in the front. The round balloon puffed sleeves have drooping wings of the velvet for epaulets, and the well stiffened wide skirt is perfectly plain and of dancing length—that is, just touching the floor in the back. These low waists may be worn in the afternoon, when high necked frocks are desired, by adding a guimpe of lace finished about the throat with a stock of velvet.

A dressy high bodice may be made in crepon cloth, adorned with balloon sleeves, and crossed sash ends in ombre silk, meeting on the right side, under a bow with streamers in moire ribbon. The flounced sleeves and basque in crepon are relieved with a row of tinsel braid, in keeping with the sparkling lines between each bouillon of the muslin chemisette and straight collar. When a low cut bodice is desired for evening wear, a full round waist made in either spotted muslin or spangled net over a fitting satin lining is simple, but effective. There are velvet straps over the shoulders to match the band round the waist, which fastens at the back under a rosette bow and has a spangled buckle at the side. The balloon sleeves are finely tucked and are finished at the top with roses.

Fichus are always more or less fashionable, and this season they seem to be in great demand. They are to be had in all sorts of light and dainty materials—in chiffon and lace, in spotted muslin, in net, in black and ecru lace. These make the plainest of gowns appear dressy. A stylish fichu is a pointed one with several fine puffs about the neck and finished with a soft lace fall. This meets at the back the same as in front and is finished with a band of ribbon and a stylish bow at the back.

A Nice Apple Omelet.

Take two pounds of apples, peeled and cored. Stew till tender with sugar and a little lemon peel. When nearly cold, beat up well with two ounces of butter, half an ounce of flour and the yolks of two eggs. Lastly, add the well whisked whites of eggs and pour all into a buttered pie dish. Scatter bread crumbs over the top and bake to a nice brown.

HOW TO MAKE A MATTRESS.

Bedticking, Thread, Cornhusks and Cotton Are the Materials Required.

Prudence Plain says in The Housekeeper: It requires 10 yards of ticking for a mattress. Cut two widths the length of the bed for the bottom of the mattress and two the same length for the top. Use the remainder for sides, which you sew all around the bottom piece, making it square or round at the corners. Now get your quilting frames, and with a strong cord put in the mattress exactly as you would a quilt. It is now ready for the filling, which you must have previously prepared.

The best filling is made of cornhusks or shucks and cotton. The cornhusks must be made soft and fine by pulling them through a fork. To do this take a shuck in your left hand and an ordinary table fork in your right. Insert the fork in the shuck and jerk rapidly through each layer until the whole is torn into fine shreds. Then pull these off from the stem at the bottom and have ready a large hamper to receive the shredded portions.

It takes three large hampers full to make a full mattress. Have this amount ready, and after you have your mattress in the frame lay the contents of the two hampers up each side and pour the contents of the remaining one in the middle. Before doing this place a wide board supported on two chairs under the mattress to take the weight off the middle and prevent its tearing out of the frame. Make the shuck filling all smooth and level, stuffing it in well at the corners, and then place a layer of cotton over the whole.

The more cotton you put in, of course, the softer the mattress will be. After having arranged this nicely, spread on the top piece of ticking, basting it around the sides and ends of frame, same as you did the bottom. Now you are ready for the tacking. For this purpose you will need a long mattress needle, which costs 5 cents, and a ball of twine. Insert the needle in the mattress from the top side, draw it through and insert again from the bottom side, at about the distance of one inch from where it came through before; pull through at the top. Have ready some circles cut from the material of which you are making the mattress. Place one of these in the loop made on the under side of mattress, and tie another in where the two cords meet at the top.

Continue to work in rows, as you would in tying a comfortable. One person can very easily do the work until the middle row is reached, when an assistant should sit under the mattress and pull the needle through while this row is being tied, as the person inserting the needle from above cannot reach it below, on account of it being so far over. When all the tying is completed, cut the threads holding it in the frame and let it drop to the floor. Sew the top and sides together with a neat over and over seam, or, if it is desired to make the mattress strictly professional in make, bind the edge with striped tick binding, and you will have a mattress which should please the most fastidious.

Aluminium Cooking Utensils.

One of the latest uses of aluminium is for cooking utensils. An expert of the metallurgical laboratory of Lehigh university says, after two years of actual experience, that in point of lightness, cleanliness, durability and all round adaptability vessels of aluminium are the perfection of cooking utensils. He instances two boilers which have been in daily use for cooking all sorts of food, for preserving, stewing fruits and the like, for two years and are today as bright as new and have not lost a fraction of weight. One weighs 1 pound 12 ounces and the other 1 pound 11 ounces.

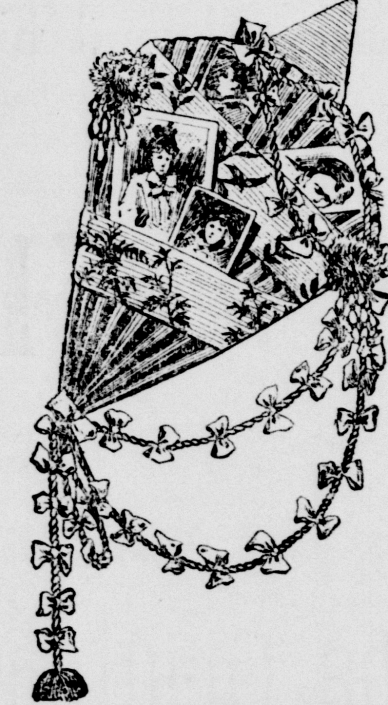

Selecting and Boiling a Ham.

To select a ham, Good Housekeeping advises as follows: Pierce through the thick part with a meat knife. If the blade draws out clean, the ham is a good one, but if the fatty substance sticks to it another selection should be made. It should also have a sweet, rich smell.

After making a satisfactory selection, wash and scrape the ham until clean, and then let it stand in fresh water over night. In the morning submerge it in a kettle of nearly boiling water. Let it cook gently for an hour, when you may throw in a carrot, if there is no objection to the flavor; also a sprig of parsley or a few cloves and bay leaves to suit the taste. When the meat is done, let it stand in the liquor until cool, thus leaving it juicy and tender. Never boil any salt meat severely, but keep it at a gentle simmer until done. To give the ham a fine appearance, cover it with bread crumbs when cold and brown lightly in the oven. This not only improves the flavor, but makes it possible to serve the same as baked ham.

A Photograph Holder.

The foundation of a kite shaped photograph holder, described by Modern Frisilla, is of heavy cardboard, covered with plaited satin. Two strips of heavy silk are tacked across to hold the photographs, and the tail is made of bits of baby ribbon tied to a length of rope silk. Silk pompons complete this pretty holder, which is to be hung on the wall.

A Dainty Little Sack.

It Is Easy to Make and Will Ward Off Numerous Colds.

A little sack described and illustrated by a lady correspondent of Country Gentleman is as dainty as it is useful. It is made in this case of soft gray ladies' cloth and is pinked around its edges for its sole adornment. It takes but a very short time to make the bit of a jacket, but it would take a long time to tell of all its services and good doings—of the colds it has ward off and the shivers it has saved its small wearer. A little time spent in putting it on and taking it off, as the mercury in the nursery goes up or down, is time as well spent as ever minutes were since Mother Eve's baby sneezed terror into her heart.

The little sack has but three pieces besides the sleeves and collar. The back is one piece, shaped only in the neck and arm sizes. The sleeves should be made generously large to insure ease in going on over the little puffed sleeves so attractive in little folks' gowns nowadays, and their seams may be turned at the wrists for a short distance and the bottom of the sleeve be turned up for a cuff until such time as the little arm grows to its full length. The edge of the sleeve and of the collar is pinked like the bottom of the sack. The neck may be closed with a ribbon or a simple button and buttonhole, the latter being as much more serviceable as the former is daintier.

A little red jacket is wonderfully cunning, and if one wishes something a bit more delicate and babyish any of the beautiful fancy flannels to be found in these artistic days will furnish good room for choice.

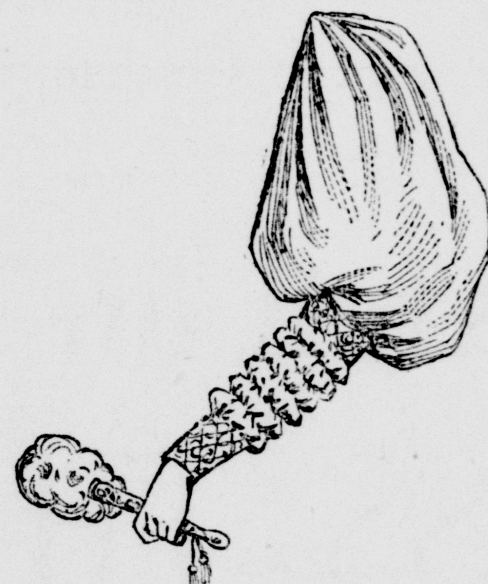

Recipe For Rice Pudding.

Wash a cup of raisins and place in a basin with half a cup of best rice and a pint of milk. Cover the basin and stand it on the stove. Stir the contents occasionally till the milk is absorbed. When this is done, add a little grated lemon peel and place it in a pie dish. Make a custard with three-quarters of a pint of milk and an egg, and when it cools pour it over the rice and raisins. Bake in a moderate oven for about 20 minutes and serve with sugar and ground cinnamon.

A New Sleeve.

The present fashion of wearing fancy bodices in the house gives great scope for variety in sleeves. In one of the very newest sleeves the puff is cut the greater width at the elbow, below which it is gathered in. A piece of silk gathered at intervals is fitted to the lining for the lower part. This is finished at the wrist with a band of fancy galon, a similar one hiding the join below the elbow.

As the foregoing description indicates, sleeves continue to be the elaborate part of a costume. They are worn large when the extreme broad effect of the shoulders is desired.

There are many of the imported gowns with a style of sleeve which indicates the beginning of a closer and more snug effect. This is especially noticeable in the lower part of the sleeve, which is close fitting—in many cases half way between the elbow and shoulder.

Frills, puffs and caps are used to broaden the upper part, which often shows three different materials—silk or wool, velvet and lace.

Fashion Notes.

Walking dress skirts are usually made quite plain, frequently only finished with a few rows of stitching above the hem, but many rows of plain, fancy or waved braid are often seen, also small gathered or plaited flounces or bands of velvet.

The newest thing in underwear is nun's veiling, which shows off lace trimmings to great advantage.

Dimity or a firmly woven percale is the material much used in some of the new wash skirts.

Chemises for slight women have quite replaced the close fitting silk vest and are much more convenient, as they can be used as a cover for a corset also, in which case the silk vest continues to be used.

A very fashionable trimming consists in carrying the braid or fur or jet passementerie lengthwise of the seam of the skirt, finishing with a narrow band around the bottom.

In Paris hats and bonnets are gradually growing larger. The Amazon hat is worn with tailor gowns and walking toilets generally.

Bonnets are trimmed with bouquets of Parma violets on the front and sides and finished high in the back with the Virot bow, which rests on the coiffure.

The shoehorn, with buttoner attached, is a great scheme.

The new silver buckles are round and oblong, with sides curving inward, a graceful shape.

In Childhood's Happy Days.

Among the incidents of childhood that stand out in bold relief, as our memory reverts to the days when we were young, none are more prominent than severe sickness. The young mother vividly remembers that it was Chamberlain's Cough Remedy cured her of croup, and in turn administered it to her own offspring and always with the best results. Little Boy's Coat and Hat.

Everything intended for children who are well dressed is simple in style. As mothers usually find it more difficult to dress small boys than girls becomingly, they will welcome this description of a small boy's coat and hat. The little coat is exceedingly pretty when made of white lamb's wool, but of course any suitable fabric may be used. It is made with a yoke and three capes edged with beaver. It buttons down the entire length in front, and the sleeves are full and set in a wristband. The felt hat is bound with velvet and is made to bend to any shape that suits the face. It is eminently a boy's hat and quite new. The brim cut in battlements is singularly becoming, and the bows rise at the back in a graceful style.

A YOUNG GIRL'S LIFE.

SOME INTERESTING FACTS.

The Story is the Same, No Matter What Her Station In Life May Be.

[SPECIAL TO OUR LADY READERS.]

No matter whether she walks to her daily toil or rides in her carriage in the park. No matter whether she is one of the millions or one of the few thousands.

Whatever her station in life may be, she is subject to the same physical laws, and suffers in proportion to their violation.

Girls' oversensitiveness and modesty often puzzle their mothers and baffle the physician. They withhold what ought to be told.

Thousands have found health and comfort through the counsel of Mrs. Pinkham. If you are sick, write her at Lynn, Mass.

Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound saves the young girl from the danger resulting from organic disturbance, such as suppression or retention of menses or irregularity. It cures displacement of the womb and all forms of disease arising from derangement of the organ. It is a remedy for woman, given by a woman.

What will cure the mother will cure the daughter, as their organism is the same, and governed by the same laws.

A VETERAN'S VERDICT.

The War is Over. A Well-known Soldier, Correspondent and Journalist Makes a Disclosure.

Indiana contributed her thousands of brave soldiers to the war, and no state bears a better reputation in that respect than it does. In literature it is rapidly acquiring an enviable place. In war and literature Solomon Yewell, well known as a writer as "Sol," has won an honorable position. During the late war he was a member of Co. M, 2d N. Y. Cavalry and of the 13th Indiana Infantry Volunteers. Regarding an important circumstance in the war he writes as follows: "Several of us old veterans here are using Dr. Miles' Restorative Nervine, Heart Cure and Nerve and Liver Pills, all of them giving splendid satisfaction. In fact, we have never used remedies that compare with them. Of the Pills we must say they are the best combination of the qualities required in a preparation of the nature we have ever known. We have none but words of praise for them. They are the outgrowth of a new principle in medicine, and tone up the system wonderfully. We say to all, try these remedies."—Solomon Yewell, Marion, Ind., Dec. 5, 1892. These remedies are sold by all druggists on a positive guarantee, or sent direct by the Dr. Miles Medical Co., Elkhart, Ind., on receipt of price, $1 per bottle, six bottles $5, express prepaid. They positively contain neither opiates nor dangerous drugs.
